

Flushing of Water Mains – Lachlan Shire Council Condobolin Town Water Supply Reticulation System

June 2009

Lachlan Shire Council will be carrying out a program of water supply main flushing in the Condobolin town water supply reticulation system prior to the end of June 2009. The works are scheduled between the hours of 10am and 3pm.

As a result of these works, random occurrences of turbid and discoloured water may be experienced throughout the town. Should instances of turbid or discoloured water be experienced, customers should minimise water usage, particularly automatic washing machines. In these instances, the water, whilst discoloured, remains safe for drinking.

The works form part of Lachlan Shire Council's commitment to supplying high quality water to its customers and involves flushing (cleaning) of a number of large mains.

Council regrets any inconvenience that this work may cause and wishes to thank customers in anticipation of their understanding and co-operation with this work.

If you have any queries, please contact Council on 02 6895 4444.
